RESEARCH, SCHOLARSHIP, AND CREATIVE WORK

Grants, Contract, Awards: External Sources

Currently funded

1. Award: ND State/CDC Tribal Tobacco Control Grant

Role: Principal Investigator

Sponsoring Organization: North Dakota State / Centers for Disease Control (CDC)

Total Direct Costs: $119,379

Award Dates: 2021 – ongoing

Purpose: Engage North Dakota tribal communities in support of tobacco control and cessation initiatives for North Dakota Department of Health.

Pending/Submitted:

*1. Proposal: Mni Sota Center for Climate Change and Health

Role: Co-Investigator

Principal Investigator: Bruce Alexander, PhD (UMN SPH); Jessica Hellman (UMN Ecology, College of Biological Sciences, Institute on the Environment).

Sponsoring Organization: National Institutes of Health (NIH)

Date Submitted: November 3, 2023

Direct Costs Requested: $3,720,960

Purpose: Research on climate change and health

*2. Proposal: New Frontiers in Research Fund - International 2023

Role: Co-Investigator

Principal Investigator: Nicole Redvers, ND, MPH (Western University)

Status: Submitted

Sponsoring Organization: National Science Foundation (U.S. Hub)

Date Submitted: November 3, 2023

Direct Costs Requested: $2,588,000

Purpose: Our transdisciplinary consortium of partners proposes an in-depth mixed methods study rooted in Indigenist community-based participatory research (ICBPR) ('novelty') to make visible how climate change induced intensification of water and wildfire-related events are impacting the wellbeing of frontline communities.

Previously funded and concluded

1. Award: NIH COBRE Pilot Award

Role: Principal Investigator

Sponsoring Organization: American Indian Mental Health and Climate Justice in the Anthropocene

Total Direct Costs: $53,191

Award Dates: Was awarded for 2022-23, but I declined due to upcoming transition to UMN.

Purpose: The purpose of this project was to utilize Indigenous research methodologies to co-construct a research and policy agenda on the impacts of climate change on mental health, and utility of Indigenous knowledge systems to support climate adaptation programming that will help support positive mental health. This project was to be co-developed with Indigenous community members that identify as front-line climate activists, land/water defenders, elders, etc.

2. Award: Great Plains Initiative

Role: Principal Investigator

Sponsoring Organization: National Institutes of Health, National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA)

Total Direct Costs: $66,219

Award Dates: 9/1/2021 – 9/1/2023

Purpose: Identify community-based initiatives to support recovery from substance use in American Indian communities in the Northern Plains. (Data collection was near completion when I transitioned to UMN in September 2023).

3. Award: Exploring Binge Drinking and Drug Use as a Form of Self-Injury among White Mountain Apache Youth

Role: Co-Investigator

Principal Investigator: Mary Cwik, PhD (Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health)

Sponsoring Organization: Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Admin (SAMHSA)

Award Dates: 2014 - 2015
